—The mayor of Hoopeston, this State, hooped it up for temperance for revenue only, and now he is under arrest for selling whisky illegally.

A collector at Bombay has among his curiosities a Chinese god marked "Heathen Idol," and next to it a gold piece marked "Christian Idol."

Springfield, Ohio, has just elected an alderman forty-six inches high, weighing sixty pounds. There are some necessary evils of which the less you have the better.

—Henry Wingert, one of the respected old settlers of Franklin, was down this morning. He is in good health and mentally bright and lively, though now over four score and six years.

—On July Fourth one fare for round trip will be charged from here to Sterling on the C. & N. W. A special train will leave here at 10:30 a. m and returning leave Sterling at 10:30 p. m.

—A ride through the farming country surrounding us is most delightful recreation at this time. The wheat fields are yellow and ripe. Wild roses are in bloom and the air is filled with the fragrance of new mown hay.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Sheldon, sons, Louis and Paul, and Miss Bertie Burr are spending the summer on the Pacific coast. Next week they sail for Alaska. Their many friends here will be pleased to hear that they are enjoying life.

—Our boys made twenty-seven runs and the Mendota boys seven in the game at that place yesterday. Bob Adams, J. Null and G. W. Jacobs made each five runs; fifteen in all. A return game will be played in this city on Thursday.

—THE EVENING TELEGRAPH is published on East River street not Water street as we have all erroneously called it. Water street is in North Dixon. No. 8, East River street is the place to procure all sorts of printing on short notice.

—The following gentlemen will be installed in the offices named by the Illini Tribe of Red Men this evening: Prophet, E. O. Walgren; Sachem, L. O. Rosbrook; Senior Sagamore, Charles Mulkins; Junior Sagamore, Dennes Denney. Mox Rosenthal was elected as delegate to the next meeting of the great council.

—"It appears from The Art Amateur that "Angelus" remains the highest priced of modern paintings. Meissonier's "1814" which has been sold in Paris recently for $170,000 brought really $100,000. Mr. Delahante, who bought the picture from Meissonier, years ago, for 70,000 francs, was so pleased that he sent the artist a present of 50,000 francs.

—The heat last week was severe on horses in this vicinity. In Palmyra a number were killed. Ad Guyot and his neighbor, Mr. Newcomer, and Howard Martin, at the Gap, and Fred Lawton each lost a horse by sunstroke. In Bradford township the following citizens each lost a horse by the heat: William Hark, Albright, Mrs. Reinhart and Harlow Williamson; the latter lost two horses by sunstroke.

A girl at Williamsport, Pa., who in the matter of beauty and affectionate exuberance was not "fresh as first love and rosy as the dawn," was asked why she did not get married, and this is what she said in reply: "I have considerable money of my own, I have a parrot that can swear and a monkey that chews tobacco, so that I have no need of a husband."

—We would mildly suggest that when the Dixon Press Association sends a report to the Chicago papers it should be more careful and not, as it did recently, state that the Henderson shoe factory will have a pay roll annually of three hundred thousand dollars. Such absurd exaggeration bring our city into ridicule and lead outsiders to imagine that we all are liars subject to such conditions of carelessness.

—At a regular meeting of the South side Board of School Directors held last evening, Miss Frankie Stewart was chosen as a teacher to fill a vacancy in the intermediate department. The usual bills were audited. A committee instructed to see that the necessary repairs and painting is done on the school buildings. A. B. Campbell was appointed janitor at the Second Ward school and J. H. Downs, as truant officer for the coming year.

—Dr. C. C. Hunt and O. B. Dodge will start in a few days for a trip to Europe, spending a couple of months in travel through the old country. The Doctor goes first to Berlin where he is a delegate from this country to a World's Medical Convention; and thus he will mingle professional business with pleasure. Mr Dodges trip will be entirely for recreation Mrs Dodge and Mrs Hunt with the little folks go to the seaside, we believe during the hot weather.

The Cedar Rapids Gazette laments thus over the situation in that town in regard to liquor matters: "We have had a great fuss in this city as well as elsewhere in the State over prohibition for the past seven years, and yet the number of saloons has increased to at least three times the number seven years ago, taxes have piled up to the very limit, and the city is running behind financially. Think of it, the most beautiful city in Iowa by nature, with some main thoroughfares that no man can ride over in safety. Is it not time for the return of reason?"

—The prudent small boy has for a number of days been saving his money for the "Fourth." The old men can not quite understand the feeling that prompts the youth to "blow in," or blow "up," his money on firecrackers, skyrockets and spinning wheels. We forget how little we valued money when we were young and yet how a very few cents made us feel rich and how utterly miserable we would have been without funds on the great day. Give the boy a little spending money for the Fourth. He will think more of it now than he will of small fortunes later on in life. Give the boy a chance.

The citizens of Columbus, Ga., are going to celebrate July 4th by a barbacue. Among the novelties is a chichen pie thus described by the Enquirer-Sun: "The pie is to be seven feet long and five feet broad, and as deep as will hold ten dozen chickens. Every chicken must have yellow legs. A drum-stick for the babies and a wing for the girls. After the pie is eaten the pan will be auctioned off, the proceeds to go to the girl under fifteen years of age that brings to the Chattahochee Valley Exposition in November the finest pone of bread baked by herself."

—The Republican legislature of New York has submitted a prohibition amendment of the constitution of that State to the people and strange as it may appear the leading editors of the Third Part Prohibitionists and those of the saloon party started on about the same platform in the contest, both intimating that they would take no part in the election. The organ of the Third Party people, "The Voice," announced that in a contingency those for whom it spoke would decline to work for the passage of the amendment. "The members of the Prohibition party," "The Voice" declared, "are not going to be such fool as to expend their money and energies on a hopeless campaign against boodle and bribery." In order to reassure "The Voice" and inspire it to do its best for the amendment "The Wine and Spirit Gazette" replies: "We ask where is the boodle and bribery to come from? We have said so already, and say so again: The rum power, as the Prohibitionists are pleased to call the dealers in wine and spirits, will not spend a dollar to defeat the amendment." Of course, if "The Voice" accepts this statement as trustworthy, it will proceed to buckle on its arms.

The saloon folks of New York urge that they prefer prohibition to high license and that is the reason, we may presume, that the leading saloon organ will not oppose the Prohibition amendment. "The Voice," the Third Party organ, has stated that it will not work for the Prohibition amendment because; well, because it is a newspaper of cant and hypocrasy. Because the Democratic leaders do not desire it should. At each presidential election it will be found working hard for a "hopeless cause" and in the interest of boodle and bribery.

HIS MEMORY LIVES.

Dedication of a Monument to Thos. A. Hendricks.

A TRIBUTE TO THE GREAT DEAD.

His Record Kept Green by the Love of His People—Incidents of the Ceremony of Unveiling—Speeches by Senator Turpie, Governors Hill and Campbell and Gen. Sickles—A Beautiful Floral Memorial from Tammany Hall—Letters of Regret from Harrison, Morton and Others.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 2.—The day for the unveiling of the Hendricks' monument dawned clear and hot, but with a good breeze blowing. Among the arrivals during the morning were a delegation of the Cook County Democracy, 200 strong, accompanied by the Second Regiment band, and a big delegation from the Iroquois club; also 500 members of the Duckworth club from Cincinnati. Before noon about every civil and military organization in Indiana and many from Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, and Missouri was represented, and when the parade started had places therein. The parade moved at 1 p. m. and was a notable one, and the line of march was crowded with thousands of citizens, who loudly cheered the marching hosts.

At the Monument Site.

The mass of people in front and around the monument by 2 p. m., the hour set for the exercises to be given, was simply impossible to estimate. It was a sea of faces that extended in every direction about as far as the eye could reach. The programme at the statue was as follows: A welcoming address by Governor Hovey, who introduced Frederick Rand, president of the monument association, as chairman of the meeting; music by a chorus of 500 school children, invocation by the Rev. J. S. Jenckes, historical statement by President Rand, unveiling of the monument by Mrs. Hendricks, dedicatory ode by James Whitcomb Riley, address by Senator Turpie and benediction by Bishop Chatard. But several speeches were delivered that were not on the programme after Turpie had concluded.

Unveiling the Statue.

An interesting incident of the ceremonies was the unveiling of the statue. This duty had been assigned to Mrs. Hendricks. She had received an ovation all along the line of march, and again when she was seen to ascend the platform and take her seat. The close of the singing of the hymn "America" was the signal to unveil and as the strains of music ceased the widow of the revered statesman pulled the line which unloosed the flag which veiled the statue, and as the folds fell away and uncovered the well-known features of the dead statesman a mighty shout went up that rolled from center to circumference of the vast throng and was taken up again and again until the roar was like the meeting of mighty waters.

Senator Turpie's Address.

A dedicatory ode by James Whitcomb Riley was then read, and the address of the day followed, Senator Turpie being the speaker. His oration was a fitting eulogy of the great Hoosier statesman. He traced his career from his birth in Ohio to his untimely death; told of his firm stand for the Union in the days of '61, defended and eulogized his position during reconstruction days, when he insisted that the states had never been out of the Union; that the acts of secession were invalid, and that as soon as the war was over the southern states dropped back into their places in the Union with all their rights unimpaired. Said the orator: "Thus he taught the lesson of those days never to be forgotten, that the war had been waged for the preservation of the Union, not for the destruction of the states," and he declared that Hendricks' position had been repeatedly confirmed since that time by the United States supreme court.

Close of Turpie's Address.

In conclusion the speaker said: "If Webster be styled the expounder of the constitution—of the old constitution, with its half truths and compromises upon a subject noted, but unnamed therein, Hendricks may be as justly called the expounder of the new. If the one is known as the constructionist, the other will be known as the reconstructionist of his age—as the true interpreter of the constitution revised, amended; and of the nature and character of the union thus reformed, restored, and re-established.

"Amid the clangor of arms, the shoutings and thunders of embattled hosts scarcely died away, he was pre-eminently the civilian and publicist of that momentous and perplexing period." His peroration was a glowing eulogium of the dead statesman.

Some Interpolated Features.

This speech with a benediction was to have closed the exercises, but there were several distinguished men whom the people wanted to hear and they would not be denied. A feature that was interpolated just after the opening prayer was the presentation by Gen. Dan. Sickles, of New York, to Mrs. Hendricks, of a wreath of roses three feet in diameter sent by the Tammany society. In presenting it Gen. Sickles said that he had been commissioned by the most ancient political organization in America to bring this wreath and place it on the tomb of Hendricks in the name of Tammany hall. More than thirty years ago he had been the envoy of the same society to offer a similar tribute to the memory of Daniel Webster. Gen. Sickles eulogized the life and works of Hendricks and in concluding, asked Mrs. Hendricks to accept the wreath as a token of the esteem and admiration for her illustrious husband who in his lifetime had so ably championed the principles so dear to Tammany hall. Mrs. Hendricks accepted the wreath and bowed her thanks while the spectators cheered.

Governor Hill Had to Speak.

Music followed Senator Turpie's oration, and Bishop Chatard, of Vincennes, was about to pronounce the benediction, when a veto was put on that part of the programme at that time by cries that swelled louder and louder for Governor Hill. The governor had come to the dedication with the express condition that he should not be asked to speak, but the demand was too vociferous and he slowly responded. As he went forward he was greeted with enthusiastic cheers. He said that Hendricks was "the cool, steady, loyal, unostentatious, but consistent supporter of the government in its days of peril; he loved his state as he loved his country; his successes in life were your pride and glory and when he died it was your hour of mourning."

His Fame the Nation's.

Continuing the governor said: "His fame, however, does not belong to Indiana alone; it belongs to New York as well, and to the whole Union. It should not be forgotten that while he was the governor of your state and your servant in many other stations of trust within your domain, he was also a representative in congress, a senator of the United States and the vice president of the nation. There is not a citizen in any part of this broad land of ours, no matter how humble he may be, or under what skies he may have been born, who may not justly feel that of the glory which the life and public services of Thomas A. Hendricks reflected upon the whole country—some share belongs to him."

A Tribute from New York.

The governor concluded his remarks with the following words: "Among the illustrious men who have been given to the country by the mighty west during the last half century, and whose lives and influences have helped shape our national destiny, conspicuous will stand forth that distinguished character whose name is on every lip at this hour, and whose memory will especially ever remain engrafted upon the hearts and entwined in the affections of the people of Indiana. The citizens of New York, for whom I particularly speak to-day, and in whose behalf I am permitted to pay this brief tribute to one whom we regarded as the typical American of his time, join with you, through their representatives here, in dedicating this monument, and in expressing their admiration for the genius, the patriotism, the integrity, the private life and public character of Thomas A. Hendricks, the scholar, the jurist, the representative, the senator, the governor, the vice president—and always the man of the people."

Words of Praise from Ohio.

When the speaker resumed his seat and the cheering had subsided, Governor Campbell was called for. He spoke briefly as follows: "Indiana emblazons the brightest page of her history with the name of him whose monument is here dedicated with such becoming ceremony. Ohio stands modestly aside, yet, nevertheless, rejoices in the lesser glory which is reflected upon herself. She gave birth to Thomas A. Hendricks; resigned him at an early age to the state of his adoption; watched his growth with maternal fondness, and lamented his death. She comes to his bier the second mourner in that great concourse of commonwealths which to-day pays homage to his memory."

Brief speeches were made by Governor Francis, of Missouri, and ex-Governor Gray, and then the benediction was pronounced.

Regrets for Non-Attendance.

A letter of regret at inability to attend was read from President Harrison, who said that public business kept him at Washington City, but that it would have afforded him much pleasure to have joined in the testimonial of respect and affection for his distinguished fellow townsman. "His eminent public services and his faithful discharge of many and important official duties render the commemoration of his public and private virtues most fitting and proper," wrote the president. Attorney General Miller also expressed his regret that he could not attend the ceremonies and sent a brief eulogy. Letters in the same tone were received from Vice President Morton and Chief Justice Fuller.

A Visit to Mrs. Hendricks.

Governor Hill and Gen. Sickles paid a long visit to Mrs. Hendricks at her residence. She presented the governor with a gold-headed cane which had been given to Governor Hendricks by the state officers in 1876, and Gen. Sickles received a cane which had been received from the Shelby county Democracy in the fifties. In the course of the visit Gen. Sickles is said to have remarked that Cleveland had been unfortunate in giving offense to old line Democrats and taking up with new men and that the ex-president had taken up with the civil service reformers a little prematurely, before he knew much about them. Whereat Mrs. Hendricks went to Governor Hill's side, and seizing his hand, remarked: "Governor, I hope you will get there."

NO TRACE OF THE MEN.

Farm Hill Mine Entered at Last and the Search Abandoned.

DUNBAR, Pa., July 2.—Entrance into the Farm Hill mine was effected yesterday, and it was found that the twenty-nine men imprisoned in the working had been burned to death. The search was made almost impossible by the dense smoke that filled the mine. The fans were kept at work for some time, and the air partially cleared. The last exploring party entered the mine at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They did not come out until 7 o'clock in the evening. Three of their number entered to within a few hundred feet of the subterranean fire.

Found Their Picks and Shovels.

They found the dinner buckets and blouses of two of the men. The explorers suffered from the intense heat and black damp, and scarcely escaped with their lives. They visited the places where the men were known to have been at work. Their picks and shovels were found lying where they had been dropped. Otherwise no trace of the men could be found. The explorers then voted to abandon the work of recovery. The company will now attempt to save as much of the mine property as they can.

Found Dead in His Office.

BEARDSTOWN, Ills., July 2.—Dr. T. A. Hoffman was found dead in his office in this city Monday. The doctor was 83 years old, and had few superiors as a chemist. He was the discoverer of glucose and the process of its manufacture, and it was under his supervision that the first factories in the east were built. At one time Dr. Hoffman was wealthy, but the bulk of his fortune was lost in the manufacture of glucose.

A Feminine Forger Arrested.

BALTIMORE, July 2.—Mrs. Julia Lippincott, wife of Edwin Lippincott, former proprietor of Haddon hall at Atlantic City, N. J., who is charged with the forgery of notes and mortgages amounting to $60,000, was arrested by detectives in this city yesterday.

The Flyers at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 2.—The races at Washington park yesterday were won as follows: Donatello, ¾ mile, 1:15½; Blarney Stone, 1 1-16 miles, 1:50; Daisy F., 1 mile, 1:42; Catalpa, 1⅛ miles, 1:55; Lake View, ¾ mile heats, 1:15, 1:16.

HE PAID THE BILL,

A TRIPLE TRAGEDY AT ST. LOUIS.

Bloody Work of a Rejected Lover—He Shoots His Sweetheart, the Man Who Tried to Protect Her and Lastly His Worthless Self—Dastardly Murders by "Indignant" Ranchers—Jail-Breaker Treed by a Bull Dog—Other Wickedness.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—John Chapman, a crazy young man, while suffering from the hot weather and pangs of unrequited love, shot his sweetheart and a man who tried to save her, and then put a bullet through his own heart last night. Chapman is a carpenter, 35 years of age, and has been boarding with Mrs. Joanna Elsner, a prepossessing widow who conducts a boarding house at 810 and 812 North Eighth street. During the past week Chapman proposed to Mrs. Elsner and was rejected on account of his dissipated habits. The rejection precipitated a spree during which he remained away from the house.

He Begins a Fusillade.

Last night he called on Mrs. Elsner in an apparently sober condition. She invited him into the parlor, and his first question was: "What is my bill? I want to pay it." The unfortunate woman named the sum, and Chapman reached in his pocket, but instead of a purse he pulled out a pistol and began firing at Mrs. Elsner. She screamed and ran out to the street, closely pursued by Chapman. He fired three times and missed. The fourth shot struck her in the back as she was escaping through a confectionery store.

A Would-Be Rescuer Shot.

Michael Milgrim, the proprietor of the store, struck Chapman and got in front of the woman. Chapman fired again and shot Milgrim through the body. After gazing for a few seconds at the bodies of the two victims the murderer put the muzzle of the weapon to his heart, pulled the trigger and fell dead. Mrs. Elsner and Milgrim are still alive, but their wounds are believed to be mortal.

THE BULL DOG WAS ON HAND.

A Jail Breaker Captured by the Timely Work of a Dog.

WICHITA, Kan., July 2.—John Workman who, on June 23, broke jail at Beatrice, Neb., and in doing so fatally wounded the jailer, was arrested here yesterday after an exciting chase by R. M. Markes, city marshal of Fairbury, Neb. Markes had just arrived and was on his way from the depot to the sheriff's office and met Workman on the street. The latter ran for four blocks, and Markes tried to shoot, but his revolver would not fire. He was getting behind when a bull dog in the street caught Workman by the left leg and held him until Markes cornered him with a gun and the owner of the bull dog made the vicious animal let loose.

"INDIGNATION" OF RANCHERS.

It Takes the Form of the Murder of Two Cattlemen.

SEDAN, Kan., July 2.—Several weeks ago John S. Frazer, a prominent cattleman in Elk county, and W. H. Gibson brought into this county 1,600 Texas cattle and placed them in pasture. The advent of the cattle created consternation and bitter feeling against Frazer and Gibson, as it was feared they might be suffering from Texas fever. A few days ago Gibson suddenly and mysteriously died. On Friday last Frazer's body was found in a gully, horribly mutilated. It is thought both were murdered by indignant ranchers.

He Published His Dishonor.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 2.—A most sensational scene was enacted about noon yesterday on one of the principal streets of this city by Rev. Mr. Hubbell, and ex-Methodist preacher, mounting an open carriage and denouncing, in the presence of a large crowd, one V. H. Gibson, whom he charged with stealing his wife's affections, breaking up his home and kicking him out into the street. Hubbell is thought to be insane. Mrs. Hubbell stands well in this community.

A Woman Owns to a Murder.

PADUCAH, Ky., July 2.—Saturday night Bud Anderson, accompanied by a friend named Lacy Roberts, met Peter McCain, a farmer, at a barbecue, and, with pistols pointed at his head, compelled him to accompany them to Anderson's house and confront Mrs. Anderson, whom they charged McCain with having slandered. The following morning McCain was found dead with a bullet in his heart. Mrs. Anderson acknowledged having done the shooting, claiming that McCain had had about her.

Desperate Deed of a Girl.

TROUBLES OF THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Chicago Property Holders Making Difficulties About the Site.

CHICAGO, July 2.—The directors of the the World's fair, at their meeting yesterday morning, decided to recommend to the national commission the selection of both the lake front and Jackson park as the site for the Columbian exposition, with the main exhibit at the former place, and a committee was appointed to notify the national commission. Michigan avenue property owners have given notice of their intention to ask an injunction the moment any move is made toward carrying out the proposed plan. The national commission has not yet taken any action.

Fire at Seattle, Wash.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 2.—Fire broke out on the water front last night and for awhile it looked as though a good part of the city would be laid waste again. Help was obtained, however, from neighboring towns, and the fire gotten under control with a loss of about $100,000.

The Anglo-German Treaty Signed.

BERLIN, July 2.—The Anglo-German agreement was signed yesterday by Caprivi and Dr. Krauel, on the part of Germany and Sir Edward Malet and Sir Percy Anderson on behalf of England.

SCRAP WITH AN EDITOR.

A Minneapolis Man Will Know Better Next Time.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 2.—The Twin city census row has brought on a personal encounter between Fred Driscoll, manager of The Pioneer Press, and F. G. Winston, the millionaire contractor of Minneapolis. Winston went to the newspaper office and demanded a retraction of the statement that he had listed, for census purposes in Minneapolis, the numerous employes of his firm scattered over the state. Driscoll referred him to the editor, whereupon Winston attacked Driscoll and began a brisk cannonade about his head.

Reinforcement for Driscoll.

John Jackson, the step-son of Driscoll, came to his father's rescue, and the latter hurried out and boarded a cable car, leaving the field to be fought in his absence. Jackson is an athlete, and the well-fed form of Winston was an easy target for his blows. The Minneapolis man left the spot much the worse for wear. It has been decided to try the Minneapolis conspiracy cases before United States Commissioner Morey, of Winona, who will sit in St. Paul for that purpose. It is expected that the wholesale arrests promised will soon begin.

A CHICAGO BANKER IN TROUBLE.

Arrested for Drawing Funds That Did Not Belong to Him.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Charles P. Packer, the president of the Park National bank, which failed a week ago, was arrested yesterday on charges preferred by Bank Examiner Sturges that Packer had, while president of the bank, drawn a check for $3,000 although at the time he had but $1,000 on deposit. It is not alleged that there was any attempt on Mr. Packer's part to cheat the concern out of $2,000, and it is not denied that after the check was drawn there was more than the $3,000 on deposit to his credit.

Only a Technical Offense.

A prominent banker said yesterday that Mr. Packer's act was probably a technical offense against the law, but no one would consider it a flagrant error except the bank examiner. Mr. Packer gave bonds in $5,000 to secure his appearance for preliminary examination before United States Commissioner Hoyne. Mr. Packer and C. F. Bell, the cashier, resigned their positions yesterday and their resignations were accepted.

CASUALTIES AT A FIRE.

An Elderly Woman Drops Dead and Two Others Fatally Hurt.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 2.—A midnight fire at the hamlet of Middletown proved very disastrous, aside from the property damaged, which only amounted to about $3,000. The whole town turned out to fight it, and "Granuma" Misehart, an aged lady, dropped dead from excitement. It proved contagious and Capt. C. C. Sheridan fell in a cataleptic fit which came near proving fatal. Then Clint Mowrey rushed into his burning meat store to recover his books and cash. The door closed behind him and he jumped out through a window. He was so badly burned, however, while imprisoned, that recovery is impossible. To end the list of casualties Daniel Bickle was knocked down and fatally trampled upon by a horse which his son, who was alarming the town, rode through the crowd at breakneck speed.

A SIGNIFICANT OMISSION.

No Loyal Toasts at the Birthday Banquet To Parnell.

LONDON, July 2.—The Conservatives and Unionists, and some Liberals are severely commenting on the fact that at the birthday dinner given Parnell no loyal toasts were offered. This omission is regarded as the more flagrant because of the fact that the day was also the anniversary of the coronation of Queen Victoria, of whom no mention was made in the toasts or speeches. The Parnellites admit the breach of custom in neglecting the proposal of a toast to her majesty, but explain that the dinner was a private one, and had no political character or significance whatever. The omission was unfortunate, however, and will undoubtedly be alluded to with effect by Balfour, to show that the Irish are hopelessly disloyal.

Sharp Thrust at a Teetotaller.

LONDON, July 2.—Caine has given up all hope of re-election and is turning his attention to upbraiding the Liberals for not supporting him as he was led to believe they would do. Among those whose support Caine confidently expected, upon anti-compensation grounds, if upon no other, is Sir Wilfred Lawson, and to that gentleman Caine yesterday addressed a postal card upon which he wrote the fifteenth verse of the 11th chapter of the Second Book of Samuel: "And he wrote in the letter saying, set ye Uriah in the forefront of the hottest battle and retire ye from him, that he may be smitten, and die."

The Gas Strike at Leeds.

LONDON, July 2.—The Leeds gas company attempted yesterday to set at work a number of workmen whom they had brought from London and elsewhere to take the places of the strikers, but the attempt resulted in a serious riot. The mob of strikers and their sympathizers made an attack upon the strangers and a force of 200 police attempted to beat them back. The mob fought the police savagely and easily held their own. Finally the newcomers joined the strikers and the mob withdrew.

They Hope to Defeat Senator Vest.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 2.—Ava E. Page, of Sedalia, Mo., organizer for the State Grange, and a prominent member of the Farmers' and Laborers' union, is reported as saying that many counties in the state would place tickets in the field, and that special efforts would be put forth to unite the opposition on the legislative candidates with the hope of defeating Senator Vest for re-election to the United States senate.

Restored to Citizenship.

SPRINGFIELD, July 2.—Governor Fifer has restored to citizenship John Harris, of Mattoon; Frank Beland, of Cairo, and Thomas Polhemus, of Vermillion county, who have served terms in the penitentiary.

Struck Against Non-Union Men.

LONDON, July 2.—The coal porters of Dublin, 2,000 in number, struck yesterday in consequence of the employment by the masters of a number of non-union hands.

Mr. Schmidt Didn't Elope.

CHICAGO, July 2.—The report that Mr. K. G. Schmidt had eloped to Germany with his niece is positively denied by every member of his family.

Scaly Skin Diseases

Psoriasis 5 years, covering face, head and entire body with white scabs. Skin red itchy and bleeding. Hair all gone. Spent hundreds of dollars. Pronounced incurable. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

Cured by Cuticura

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head, and shoulders being the worst. The white scabs fell constantly from my head, shoulders, and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT and one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I thought the disease would leave a very deep scar, but the CUTICURA REMEDIES cured it without any scars. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the CUTICURA REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and so is my eyesight. I know of others who have received great benefit from their use.

MATTERS OF CASH.

Monthly Balance Sheet from the Treasury.

HEAVY REDUCTION OF THE DEBT.

We Owe $20,000,000 Less Than We Did June 1—Government Receipts for the Year the Largest Since 1881—Increase of the Cash Balance—Gold Imports and Exports—Idaho To Be a State.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 2.—The reduction in the public debt during June, as shown by the monthly statement issued from the treasury department yesterday, was $20,685,726; and for the fiscal year which closed Monday $88,471,448. The reduction during the preceding year varied but little from this amount, and was $88,938,025. During the past fiscal year the government has purchased and redeemed, in round numbers, $74,000,000 4 per cent. and about $31,000,000 4½ per cents. at a total cost of $125,418,387. The premiums paid on both classes of bonds aggregated $20,304,224.

The Cash Balance Increased.

The net cash in the treasury is $55,400,748; a month ago it was $36,901,791, and a year ago $71,484,042. Imports of gold to the United States during the fiscal year just closed were, approximating for June, $12,878,732, and the exports $17,098,920, or a net loss of gold by export during the year of $4,220,188. During the preceding fiscal year the imports of gold were $10,372,145, while the exports reached $60,033,236, a net loss of $49,661,101.

Receipts of the Government.

Government receipts from all sources during June amounted to $37,546,891, against $32,757,907 in June a year ago; and for the fiscal year the revenue aggregated $402,083,979, which is greater than in any year since 1881-'82, when it reached $403,525,250. During the preceding fiscal year the revenue from all sources was $387,050,058. While the revenue for the past year was $15,000,000 greater than during the preceding year, expenditures were also greater, and aggregated $317,988,044, or about $18,750,000 more than during the preceding fiscal year.

Some Items of Extra Expenses.

The interest on the public debt during the year just closed amounted to $36,123,810, or about $5,000,000 less than the preceding year. The premium paid on bonds purchased—$20,304,224—was fully $3,000,000 more than during the preceding year, and the pension charge for the past year amounted to $106,939,423. About $8,000,000 of this amount was used to pay pensions due during the closing months of the preceding fiscal year, so that the real pension charge during the past year was about $99,000,000, against $95,000,000 in the preceding year.

A BILL LIKELY TO FAIL.

Senate and House at Loggerheads Over Senators' Clerks.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 2.—The conferference committee on the legislative appropriation bill reported to the senate yesterday that it was unable to agree with the house on the item for senators' clerks, and that the house declined further conference. The senate decided to insist, but Hiscock moved a reconsideration of the decision, which motion was not voted upon. If both houses maintain their present positions the bill will fail. A deficiency bill for the pay of mileage to senators was passed. After further debate the Idaho admission bill was passed without division. After the transaction of some other business the senate, after a short secret session, adjourned.

In the house Lehlback's amendment to the election bill offered Monday was rejected—138 to 132. Lodge offered an amendment giving an appeal from the decision of the board of supervisors to the United States circuit court and providing that the clerk of the house shall make up the roll in accordance with the court's decision; adopted without division. Buckalew succeeded in getting struck out the provision placing the selection of juries in the hands of clerks of courts—140 to 130—Frank, Harmer, Lehlback, and Lind voting with the Democrats. Tucker offered an amendment giving circuit court judges power to decide whether supervision shall be granted when asked for, but pending a vote recess was taken to 8 p. m. At the night session the debate was continued until 11:15, but no action was taken.

The Educational Bill Again.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 2.—O'Donnell of Michigan, chairman of the house committee on education yesterday, submitted to the house a report recommending the passage of the bill introduced in the house by Cheatham of North Carolina, to aid in the establishment and temporary support of common schools, better known as the Blair educational bill. The report strongly urges national aid to education.

Left His Friend to Die.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Dr. E. H. Horsey, the resident physician at the Palmer house, died yesterday under peculiarly distressing circumstances. For some years Dr. Horsey has been an acute sufferer from hemorrhoids, but until the last few weeks he was always able to attend to the duties of his profession. The extreme heat, however, had a bad effect, and during the past week he suffered so intensely that he determined to undergo an operation. The operation was successfully performed and the doctor was left in charge of a friend, whom he had done much for. The friend, however, left him alone for several hours during which time hemorrhage began, resulting, as stated, fatally.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED ANCIENT EDITION.

A so-called "Webster's Unabridged Dictionary" is being offered to the public at a very low price. The body of the book, from A to Z, is a cheap reprint, page for page, of the edition of 1847, which was in its day a valuable book, but in the progress of language for over FORTY YEARS, has been completely superseded. It is now reproduced, broken type, errors and all, by photo-lithograph process, is printed on cheap paper and flimsily bound. A brief comparison, page by page, between the reprint and the latest and enlarged edition, will show the great superiority of the latter. These reprints are as out of date as a last year's almanac. No honorable dealer will allow the buyer of such to suppose that he is getting the Webster which to-day is accepted as the Standard and THE BEST,—every copy of which bears our imprint as given below.

☞ If persons who have been induced to purchase the "Ancient Edition" by any misrepresentations will advise us of the facts, we will undertake to see that the seller is punished as he deserves.

TO AN ENGLISH SPARROW.

Is it springtime, my pert little sparrow?
I hear your voice, honest and shrill.
I see you out there on the narrow
Promenade of my bleak window sill.
When the blues came, my spirits to harrow,
You darted in sight like an arrow
Piping "Cheer up! Cheer up!"
So loud on your tiny, blithe quill.

I like you, my brave saucy Briton,
You've a way that has captured my heart;
And though others your failings may twit on
I'm a friend that will e'er take your part.
And as much as you wish you may sit on
My sill which you often have lit on
Singing "Cheer up! Cheer up!"
With a fervor much sweeter than art.

Few people, I know, praise your singing,
And I own that your harsh vocal powers
Can't compete with the robin's voice ringing
Every June in the hush morning hours;
I confess that the lark, upward winging,
And the bobolink's silver throat flinging
"Bobolink! Bobolink!"
Add a charm to the season of flowers.

But when winds of midwinter were blowing,
And the window panes rattled with sleet;
When the heavens were gray, and 'twas snowing,
What became of those visitors sweet?
When we needed them most, they were going,
But you staid, your stout heart overflowing
In that "Cheer up! Cheer up!"
Which I've heard you so often repeat.

Your enemies say you're a fighter,
Ah, well, what of that? So am I.
I will sing if 'tis darker or lighter,
You have taught me a gay battle cry.
When Fortune's against me, despite her,
I will wait for the days that are brighter,
Singing "Cheer up! Cheer up!"
I will fight and will sing till I die.

—George Horton in Chicago Herald.

English Words and French Slang.

It is very odd that Frenchmen should be so fond of copying English ways and using fragments of British speech. No language is improved by crude importations from other tongues, and most of the English words which have come into general use in France have been annexed in the crudest manner possible, often with no clearer understanding of their meaning than the lady who had invited some friends "pour fiveocloquer a six heures." As for pronunciation—that, of course, is impossible. The word club, for instance, has long been a French possession; but it has usually been pronounced "clib." Now it has been discovered by the arbiters of chic, who not so long ago were called la haute gomme—French slang is very fleeting—that "cloob" is nearer the English style, and "cloob" it is henceforth to be.—Paris Letter.

A CRAB'S SUMMER SUIT.

How the Luscious Mollusks Get New Shells Every Spring.

This little town furnishes most of the crabs all the year around for the markets of the leading cities of this country. The crabs are caught in Chesapeake bay, and are packed in crates or barrels for shipment. Over half the inhabitants of the town make their living out of crabbing. There is a secret about the success of Crisfield crabbing. The crabber here never ships a female crab. When one of the female sex is scooped up in the crabber's net it is always thrown back into the bay. Crabs are caught every month here in the year and in all stages of development.

The crabs are dormant from fall until spring, even in the Gulf of Mexico, where they are more abundant than anywhere else on this country's coast. In the spring, when they come out of the mud and masses of seaweed, they go right into the business of shedding. Really, it seems as if the crab had little else to do in summer but shed his shell and get a new one of larger caliber. The hard crab first puts on a leathery undergarment, and while it is growing he is known as a "comer." In a day or two, when this under skin is completed he is known as a "shedder," and then he is best fitted for bait, because his hard shell can then be stripped off, leaving the leathery integument entire.

In a single day the "shedder" parts his shell and becomes a "buster," and in a few hours he will throw off his shell, crawl out of it entirely and commence to swell and stretch out his elastic covering. Then he is a soft crab par excellence. On the night of the day the crab divests himself of his misfit shell he is in the best condition for frying. In another day, if he is not taken from the water, his new covering becomes like parchment, and in twelve hours more the parchment hardens so that it just yields to pressure. Then he is known as a "buckler," and is of little use except as a broiler.

The crab fishing business is put down at half a million dollars per year by the fish commission, and probably the estimate is by no means complete.

The crabs are caught in summer by baiting set lines with tripe or fish, and the catch per man will average sixty dozen a day. All the soft crabs taken during the summer are sent to market and in May and early June the only soft crabs found in New York come from Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina. In the latter part of June soft crabs begin to be caught in Jersey waters and the price then declines. Taking a crab out of water arrests the process of development and packed in sea weed in a cool place the shedder or soft crab will remain alive for several weeks without undergoing any change. —Crisfield (Md.) Letter.

Foot Prints Made by Jesus.

In the church of Domine Quo Vadis, Rome, carefully preserved under a plate glass, bell shaped dome, 3½ feet high and 4 feet in diameter across the bottom, may be seen the last foot prints made by Jesus on this earth; those made by him the night he appeared to Peter when the latter was leaving Rome in hot haste on account of Nero's persecution of the Christians. After the burning of Rome, Nero threw upon the Christians the accusation of having fired the city. This was the origin of the first persecution, in which many perished by terrible and hitherto unheard of deaths. The Christian converts besought Peter not to expose his life, and he started to leave the city. As he fled along the Appian Way, about two miles from the gates, he was met by a vision of our Saviour traveling toward the city. Struck with amazement, Peter exclaimed, "Lord, whither goest thou?" (Domine quo Vadis?) to which Jesus, looking upon him with a mild sadness, replied, "I go to Rome to be crucified a second time," and immediately vanished.

Peter, taking this as a sign that he was to submit himself to all manner of suffering for the sake of his religion, retraced his steps to the city. He told the story of meeting with Jesus at the divide in the roads. Some of the faithful repaired to the spot, cut out of the damp clay the holy foot prints, and preserved them as above stated.—St. Louis Republic.

A Bright Outlook.

There was once upon a time an old lady who had known many sorrows and heartaches, who had lost children, husband, friends, and who was alone and poor in her old age. One day a lady who had gone to see her, pitying her sad fate, said: "Why, grandma, what a dreary outlook there is from your window—only barns and back doors." "Yes," said the old lady, cheerily, "but there are people who are blind, and who, although they live always by the ocean, cannot see it. There is always a bit of sky for me to look at, and when it is very blue and sweet I always think of the blind people and pity them, even though they be rich and I poor."—West Shore.

Consistency.

"I consider it a burning shame," remarked a lady, "that the overworked clerks of this city are not allowed a half holiday on Saturday."

"I see that Smith & Smith close at noon," said another lady.

"I know they do. I went down there last Saturday afternoon and found the place closed. I was too provoked for anything."—Texas Siftings.

LIFE FROM DEATH.

Benefactions from the Dead as Illustrated by the Egyptians.

A package of peas was once found in a fold of the wrappings of an Egyptian mummy, where it had lain undisturbed 3,000 years. The peas were at once soaked in tepid water and afterwards planted. They soon germinated, grew finely, and produced a good crop. It will be remembered that at various times kernels of wheat have been found in the wrapping cloths of mummies, which, on being planted, have grown and flourished finely.

The above facts teach us a very intersting lesson regarding the Egyptians of the years far, far back; it is this: Their religion taught them to provide for the continuance of the fruits of the earth in remote times, so that the blessings of God might be made manifest to man as well through the bounties of nature as in the growth of the spirit. And thus they made use of death for the transmission of the germs of life to ages in the incalculable future, for they knew that the repose of the dead was sacred among the people of the passing generations, and that only chance and natural changes and causes would reveal their good works—reproducing for others, perhaps at a time when the need would be greatest, those life giving plants whose benefits they had enjoyed.

If the Egyptians honored the dead with costly burials, they took care that life should have the benefit of death in something more durable than monumental stone and the fulsomeness of eulogy. How much nobler, how much higher, the economic morality of this than the later custom of placing marble memorials over or beside the dead, and inscribing upon them, not always the true character of the occupant of the tomb, but a suppositious one which wealth could purchase—perhaps a lie to the generation then passing onward, and only a description of that which should come after.

The Egyptian priests tried their dead, in solemn court and and with an imposing ceremonial, and they gave honorable burial only to those who had been honorable in their lives. Why may we not believe that those dead in whose custody were left seeds for the reproduction of fruit in after ages were persons of peculiar sanctity of lives or distinguished by the noblest virtues? We may venture to suppose that these things were confided to their ghostly keeping so that the blessings of the inheritance might be magnified to us.

The world is every day learning by sharply presented contrasts to respect more and more highly the wisdom and religion of those mighty men of Egypt whose histories they have so carefully handed down to us. Their monoliths and tablets, thus inscribed, now thousands of years old, if left where they belong, under the burning heaven of the east, and enveloped by a pure, clear atmosphere, will be fresh, comparatively, as though newly hewn when our shafts and memories shall have crumbled into dust, our books become mildewed and worm eaten and the memories of our honorable dead shall be perpetuated only in other and perhaps inaccurate histories.—James M. Stewart in Washington Post.

A Fish That Builds a Nest.

A Chinese fish constructs a nest, not of grass or seaweed, but of frothy secretions. The male prepares bubbles in the air by sucking them in and strengthening them with mucous matter from his mouth. Then he brings them into the water, and expels them to construct a nest. The female enters this cavity, and lays her eggs there.

The eggs sink to the bottom of the water, and the male is then obliged to raise them into the nest. He appears to be unable to carry them in his mouth, so he swallows a large supply of air, descends beneath the eggs, and violently expels the air accummulated. This air, finely divided by the fringes of the gills, escapes in the form of two jets of gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs and raise them to the surface. —Youth's Companion.

My offer of $100 has not been taken, nor would $1500. The fact is, there is no pump made that can compete with the COMBINED AIR and CISTERN PUMP, for purifying water when used in combination with my well, for cisterns, it will draw water from the well or cistern, thus saving an extra pump. The well is improved the water passes down below the bottom of the cistern through five feet of gravel and sand before entering the well, then upwards in the well through gravel, sand and charcoal, properly prepared and packed. This will keep the water cold, remove all live animal matter, and the well will not require to be repacked. How different from this is an ordinary well where the earth is the filter; there may be some dead reptile at the bottom of the well, or the water may contain poison. If water passing through the earth will become hard, adulterated with lime, why will it not hold filth poisonous mater in solusion. The well will be furnished at a reasonable price. Price of cistern pump at shop, $4 00. There should be an air pump in every cistern where there is a chain or suction pump, it will keep the water good. Price of air pump $1 00.

I make the following offer for 30 days: Will put in my Cistern, Well and Combined Air and Cistern Pump, and warrant it to furnish pure water, free from all live animal matter, for $15. Will allow from $1.00 to $2.00 for chain pumps. All cistern water contains live animal matter; when one of these little animals is magnified it is as large as a spider. They will do no harm when kept in the cistern and you do not drink them, but maybe very harmful when taken into the stomach. These little creatures are very lively when they have plenty of air but die for the want of it when the water become very offensive. Pure water is essential to good health. Cholera and fevers of the most malignant kind have been traced to the drinking of impure water. If you still insist in having the chain pump I can furnish them to you for $1.00 to $2.00; I make a specialty of putting in cisterns. All work warranted.

Dixon, June 27, 1890.

We have Emmert's system of water works. Come and take a drink of the sparkling water taken from the well and you will be convinced it is the article you want. We think it just perfect.
